

77. As to the reasons that lead people to being so much on social media, the author raises the hypothesis that it might be related to a world in which people tend to feel

- A) depressed on a daily basis.
- B) unimportant as social beings.
- C) tired of the long working hours.
- D) too politically involved.

Assunto: Redes Sociais-Twitter

Embora o elemento que marque a passagem como uma hipótese (“perhaps at the root...”), a ideia de “unimportant as social beings” requer cuidado de interpretação quando a passagem “(...), with the rise of automation, a widening wealth gap and unstable political climate, it is easy to feel unimportant” pode induzir o candidato ao erro pela menção ao aspecto político. No entanto, a ideia de “(...) this anxiety over being forgotten” reforça o argumento de que as pessoas tendem a se sentir não importantes.

Item: B