A.M.

Once upon a time, a farmer named John was with his animals on his lovely farm.

He has sheep, cows, horses, dogs, cats, squirrels, and a large lake with ducks.

His favorite animals were a squirrel called Robert and his dog named Bob.

John's house was very welcoming and had a large swimming pool.

One day, something unexpected happened: his squirrel called Robert disappeared, so John decided to look for him on the farm.

John couldn't find his squirrel on the farm, so he decided to put up posters in the neighborhood.

Until his neighbor, Sorangela, sent him a letter.

In the letter, it was written that she saw a squirrel entering Francisco's farm.

Hello, dear neighbor.
I heard that you lost your squirrel. I saw a street squirrel entering Francisco's farm, and I think it's yours.

So, John decided to go to Fracisco's farm.

After a long journey, John arrived at Francisco's farm and asked to enter.

Because he received a letter from Sorangela saying she had seen a lost squirrel on Francisco's farm.

So, Francisco let him in to find his squirrel.

After worrying a lot, John found his lost squirrel, but something unexpected happened. John realized that Francisco's dream was to have a pet squirrel, so John decided to give him his pet squirrel as a present.
