

Mia's House

BS – 701

ONCE upon a time...

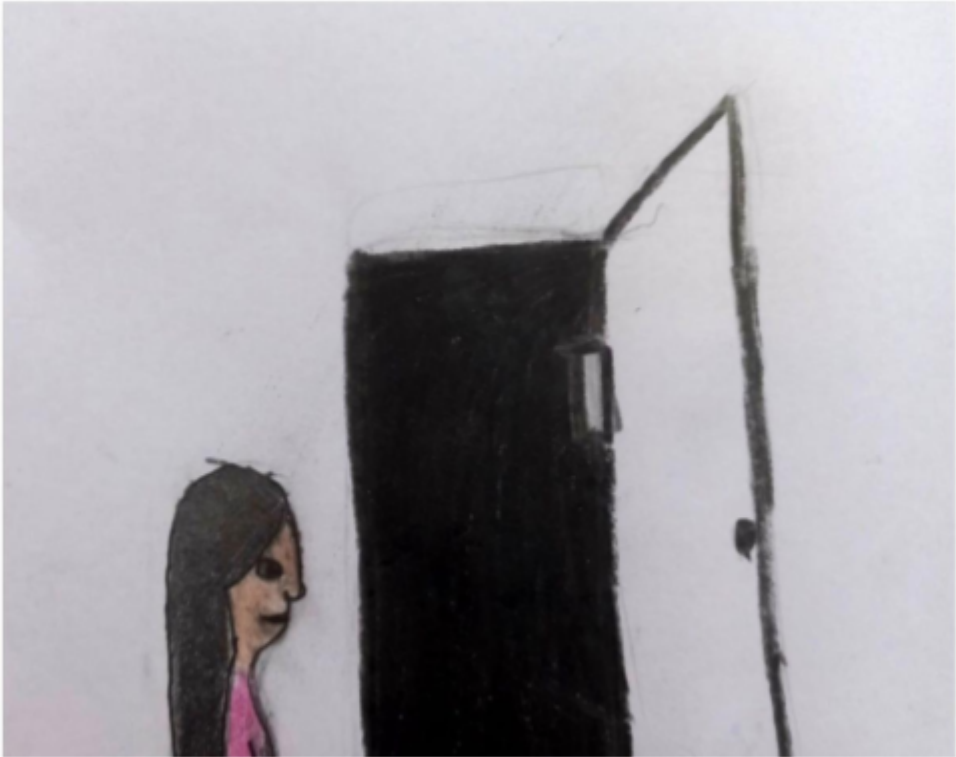

There was a family that moved to a house in the forest. Everyone was very happy except Mia because she left her old neighborhood and distanced herself from her childhood friends.

The house was very big with five rooms, but there was one room that her father wouldn't let her go to because the farmer's owners said that a girl got into it and never came out.

She ran out and, in despair, entered the room that her father had forbidden, and suddenly she was

AFTER some time...

She had already searched the whole house, but she didn't find anything to entertain herself. She was very lonely.

She ran out and, in despair, entered the room that her father had forbidden, and suddenly she was.

After entering the room, she was in a perfect place, seeing her friends. The girl who had disappeared was smiling and happy.

When she took a break, she thought about how worried her parents were. Even though she was in an incredible place, she remembered that family was more important than her fun.

Acknowledgments

We thank the team of teachers, Jairo César and João Pedro, who helped us with this fun task. We also thank the people who stopped to look at our project. Also, the coordination that put us on the teams, and also the group for all their support and effort. Thank you for the dedication of the writing, drawing, edition, podcast, and marketing teams.

We created the autograph session project. It was challenging; however, with a lot of effort and dedication from everyone in the class, we managed to do the work quite successfully. I hope readers are fascinated by this project that we took so much care about.
