
LILY'S TRIP

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We would like to thank everyone who believed in this project and encouraged us to dream and write. This book is the result of our imagination, but also of the support of our teachers, classmates, families, and God.

This is Lily, a smart and adventurous girl who loves forests. She really enjoys taking care of animals and plants, and she also loves preserving nature.

One day, with the help of her guide Jeff, Lily decided to visit a forest in Brazil: The Amazon Rainforest!

She was quite excited because she loves adventures, and she also wanted to meet new animals. Let's see what she will find on this trip!

As soon as Lily entered the forest, she came face to face with a blue macaw who said:

- Hi, Lily! I'm the blue macaw. I'm known for my beauty, as well as representing environmental preservation. Nice to meet you!

- Hi, blue macaw! How beautiful you are!

While Lily was walking through the forest, she heard some noises in the trees. Suddenly, Lily spotted several monkeys jumping on the vines in the trees. Then, one of them approached and said:

- Hello, Lily! I am the golden lion tamarin. I am very fun and playful. I like to hang from the branches of this forest!

- Hi, golden lion tamarin! You're very funny! - said Lily.

Crossing the stream of water lilies, Lily found a group of small ants.

- What cute ants! - said Lily.

However, a large anteater came and ate the small ants! Lily was frightened, but the anteater came to her and said:

- Calm down, Lily! I am the anteater. I know I am big and different, but I am a good animal. I feed on ants and insects. So, don't worry.
- Phew, what a relief! said Lily.

After crossing the old bridge, Lily found a small hill. After crossing it, she saw a lake surrounded by capybaras. Suddenly, a small capybara approached her and said:

- Hi, Lily! I'm a capybara. Don't be fooled by my size, because I'm the largest rodent alive.

- Wow! Hello, capybara! - said Lily, impressed.

After talking with the capybara, Lily heard a noise - it was her stomach growling.

- Hmmmmm, I'm hungry!

Then, Jeff called her to go fishing in the lake where they were, but it was very hard to catch a fish. However, a jabiru saw Lily's situation and decided to help her.

- Hello, Lily! Would you like some fish to eat? I've just caught one! - said the jabiru - With my big beak, I can catch many fish!
- Hi, jabiru! Thank you so much!  I'm starving, said Lily.

After fishing and eating, Lily heard a noise coming from the bushes. Suddenly, a wild cat came out of a bush and jumped toward Jeff's meal. Jeff exclaimed:

"What a scare!"

The wild cat stopped a few steps away.

"Don't worry. I won't hurt you," the wild cat said. "But remember, wild animals should always be respected and observed from a safe distance."

"Thank you very much, Mr. Cat," said Jeff. "We will keep a safe distance and let you stay in your natural habitat. See you later!"

While walking through the forest, Lily noticed something moving behind the trees. It was yellow with many black spots. She got closer to see what it was, but she was careful and stayed at a safe distance. Suddenly, a large animal came out: a jaguar!

Lily became very scared and ran away with Jeff. The jaguar ran after them, but it got tired.

- Wait for me! I can't keep up with you! - said the jaguar.

- But you want to attack us, don’t you? - asked Lily, terrified.

- Attack? What a joke! I thought we were playing tag!

- Oh my goodness! Thank you!

- Besides, I am far too friendly to attack anyone. Don’t worry, Lily.

After hours of walking through the forest, Lily said to Jeff:

- We'd better stop here. I'm very tired!
- But we didn't bring any tents, said Jeff.

Right after Jeff spoke, Lily heard a howl. She felt scared, but her curiosity was stronger, so she went to investigate. When she got closer to the sound, she saw a maned wolf who said:

- Oh, you finally found me! Come with me, and I will show you a comfortable place. By the way, nice to meet you. I am the maned wolf.
- We're coming, Mr. Wolf. Nice to meet you too.

And so, Jeff and Lily followed the wolf to a safe place.

The wolf guided Lily and Jeff to the mysterious place. When they arrived, they were very surprised. There was the blue macaw, the golden lion tamarin, the anteater, the jabiru, the wild cat, and the jaguar! Everyone was very happy and excited. They had prepared a banquet for Lily and Jeff.

- Come and eat! There's a lot of food here! - said the tamarin.
- We prepared all of this, so you can enjoy it! - said the macaw.
- We really appreciate it, everyone. You are amazing! - said Lily.

Hey, you!

We would like to ask you to protect these animals, because they are the ones who make our forest more beautiful and full of joy and color! And please don’t harm the forest. It is the home of our animals.

Thank you very much for reading!

CLASS BIOGRAPHY

Hello, kids! Our class is made up of twelve students. We study at Christus Sul, and we are in the 7th grade, afternoon shift. We are a class that loves sports and games, but we also study hard and help each other. We have worked really hard to create this book for you, and we really hope you enjoy it!

Lily, a nature-loving girl, embarks on an adventure into the Amazon Rainforest in Brazil with her guide, Jeff. Throughout her journey, she meets a series of native animals — including a blue macaw, a playful golden lion tamarin, a large anteater, a capybara, a helpful jabiru, a wild cat, a jaguar, and a maned wolf.

When Lily and Jeff get tired after hours of walking, the maned wolf offers to guide them to a mysterious place in the middle of the forest. The story concludes with an important message asking readers to respect, protect, and preserve wildlife and their forest homes.
